

MAP of CROATIAN NATURAL BEAUTIES and CAMPSITES near PARKS

PP-ZUMBERAK-SAMOBORSKO-GORJE.hr

The mountain area of Zumberak and Samobor is one of the least inhabited areas in Croatia. Life here has never been easy, and the only way to live it was to adjust to the laws of nature. Over thousands of years of their presence, people living in the area have managed to preserve the balance.

45°46'59.99" N 15°22'59.99" E

PP-MEDVEDNICA.hr

Peace, greenery and quietness of natural forests in the vicinity of our Capital - Zagreb is what makes Nature Park Medvednica special. Green hills of Medvednica, with 70 hiking trails, nurture visitors' hearts, giving them great sense of freedom.

45°24'00.00" N 16°42'00.00" E

PP-LONJSKO POLJE.hr

One of the best-preserved natural flood areas in Europe as well as one of the last areas in Europe where traditional grazing is still preserved, and livestock roams freely on large meadow spaces. Whether by foot, bike, canoe, river ferry or boat, you are free to discover the uniqueness of Lonjsko polje.

45°24'00.00" N 16°42'00.00" E

PP-PAPUK.hr

Papuk - a Slavonian mountain. The peaks of Papuk rise from the depths of the former Pannonian Sea, up to almost one thousand meters above sea level. This geologically most diverse area of Croatia is the first and only geopark in the country.

PP-UČKA.hr

Učka is the highest Istrian mountain (1,401 meters) and an area with many reminders of how man can live on the mountain and with the mountain. Dry stone walls, shepherd's huts and field shelters are silent and steadfast witnesses of a new and different ecosystem of Učka.

NP-BRIJUNI.hr

The Brijuni Islands were created by separating from what used to be the landmass of the Istrian peninsula. There is no other place with so much holm oak and bay laurel in one single place, or so much shade under the crowns of trees up to twenty meters wide.

44°54'59.99" N 13°45'59.99" E

NP-RISNJAK.hr

Risnjak is a forest kingdom, and it is precisely its dense forest communities that have presented the mountain with a "ticket" for entry into the exclusive society of national parks. In the lowest parts of the Park, the river Kupa - for many, the most beautiful Croatian river - starts its long voyage.

45°25'25.19" N 14°44'25.19" E

NP-SJEVERNI-VELEBIT.hr

"One life is simply not enough to get to know Velebit" - that is how people who know the mountain best describe its amazing diversity. Velebit may not be the highest Croatian mountain, but it is certainly the most renowned. It represents a spine connecting the northern and southern part of Croatia.

44°41'20.99" N 15°00'15.00" E

PP-VELEBIT.hr

When looking at it from the air, the mountain of Velebit resembles a stone giant, a huge boundary between the land and the sea. It is a mix of karst dolines, mountain crests, sinkholes, ridges, rounded and sharp peaks, marked by captivating biodiversity and beauty.

PP-LASTOVO.hr

What would it feel like to go to a place where the sea is so crystal clean, that you can see the seabed even when the sea is about fifty meters deep - a place where the tradition is so cherished, that written pledges of respect for island customs were once requested of foreigners and where people are so full of temperament, and so closely attached to the earth and the sea.

CAMP LOVOR

NP-MLJET.hr

Often mentioned as the most beautiful and unique island of Adriatic. It has a truly rare site - a lake in the middle of the island and an island in the lake with a Benedictine monastery from the 12th century. Visit this island and discover its extraordinarily historical story.

42°43'59.99" N 17°30'59.99" E

NP-KRKA.hr

We might call it the Magnificent Seven: Bilišćica buk, Brijun, Manojlovac, Rošnjak, Mijacka slap, Rodići slap and Skradinski buk. These are the tufa cascades of the Krka River - for many, the most beautiful blue line of the Dalmatian karst.
